Subject to the terms and conditions of this Business Source License 1.1 (the "License"), Licensor hereby grants you a limited, non-exclusive, non-transferable, revocable license to use, run, and interact with the EngineServices software solely as expressly permitted by this License.

2. Restrictions on the Core

(a) You may NOT distribute, publish, sublicense, sell, or otherwise transfer the Core or create derivative works of the Core without the express written permission of the Creator (Arthonier).

(b) You may NOT use Core code (including Services, Modules, APIs, or other Core components) in any other software package, product, or distribution outside of the official EngineServices distribution without explicit written permission from the Creator.

(c) You may modify the Core and use modified versions of the Core only within private experiences hosted on roblox.com whose privacy settings are set to "Private" in the Roblox Creator Dashboard, unless you receive explicit written permission from the Creator to do otherwise.

4. Contribution Agreement Requirement

Before submitting contributions to any official EngineServices repository owned by the Licensor, you must execute a Contribution Agreement ("CA") as provided by the Licensor. By contributing, you represent and warrant that you have the legal right to submit the contribution and that the contribution complies with this License. Failure to execute the CA may result in revocation of contribution privileges.

5. Change Date and Future Licensing

On or before January 1, 2030 (the "Change Date"), the Licensor may, at its sole discretion, relicense all or portions of EngineServices under an open-source license (for example, MIT or Apache 2.0). Until such time, the terms of this Business Source License shall remain in full force and effect.
